

19 May 2010

To Whom It May Concern,

On behalf of Phuket Province and the people of Phuket, I would like to take this opportunity to inform to you on our safety and our tourism scenario in Phuket.

Phuket is located on the Southwest of Thailand, with the distance of nearly 900 km. from Bangkok, where political standoff is still on going. It is obvious that there is no such chaos in Phuket and all tourists from around the world who are now enjoying their holidays here are in safe place.

Still, many direct flights are operating as normal, and more direct flights will be available in consequences of many airlines are avoiding to land at Bangkok. However, passengers who do transit at Suvarnabhumi Airport would be safe as the government is implementing maximum security measure to ensure safety for tourists.

As the governor, I would like to assure you that Phuket, the world famous beach destination, is and will be the safe holiday spot for all tourists. We have taken all necessary actions to ensure safety as our top priority to maintain the worry-free environment to both local and tourists.

I would appreciate your efforts in bringing and sharing this important message to both within your organization and extend it to your business partners who have followed the situation in Phuket. Your assistance means lots to Phuket, the people and the community.

I look forward to greeting you here soon,

Sincerely yours,

Wichai Prisingob
Governor of Phuket